Serve the City started in Ireland in 2006 with a small group of volunteers seeking to serve people in Dublin for a week, during the Summer. Its objectives are two-fold:

1. Engaging a diverse range of volunteers from a variety of backgrounds in meaningful community service
2. Helping marginalized and vulnerable persons without any other support in practical ways within the community

STC in Ireland arose out of a friendship between Alan McElwee and Carlton Deal, who started STC in Brussels the year before. Serve the City International is now an International Non-Governmental Organisation, registered as a charity in Brussels, Belgium.

Serve the City Ireland incorporated as a charity in 2013, supporting the operational activity of STC Dublin, Galway and Limerick. As a registered charity, STC IRL had adopted the Governance Code and oversees all the fiduciary responsibilities across all cities.

The Directors of STC IRL are as follows:

Cormac Shaw (Chairperson) s.cormac.shaw@gmail.com	Lives in Dublin, is a Chartered Accountant and CEO of Southside Partnership. Cormac loves playing music and meeting new people.
